Criteria for WBL Credit

For High School or Career Center students to receive course credit for Career Completer Status or Carnegie units towards graduation, work-based learning experiences must meet the following criteria:

- 40 hours or the highest number of hours required by industry-defined competencies in a career pathway at a worksite
- Experience aligned to the career pathway in the student's Individual Graduation Plan (IGP)
- A mutually developed training agreement outlining the skills and objectives to be mastered during the WBL experience
- A positive evaluation of the student's performance conducted by the employer on a mutually developed performance evaluation tied to the training agreement. Positive evaluation is defined as a score of 3 or higher on a scale of 5.
- An internship that is included within a credit-bearing course or is included in a unit of credit in the pathway related to the work-based learning placement or personal pathway of study
